Promoting excellence in midwifery and women’s health

British Journal of Midwifery

www.britishjournalofmidwifery.com

June 2023
Volume 31 Number 6

Editorial Board

Tom McElvan
Principal Educator (Midwifery), NHS Education for Scotland

Sadie Gorgathy
Associate Professor, University of Notre Dame, Australia

Catherine Hamilton
Principal Lecturer, Assistant Associate Dean
Academic Quality Practice Enhancement and Professional Lead Midwifery/Lead Midwife
Education, University of Herfordshire

Alison Power
Senior Lecturer in Midwifery, Faculty Lead for Interprofessional Learning, Education and Collaboration, University of Northampton

Janine Stockdale
Lecturer in Midwifery Education at Queen’s University Belfast

Claire Leeder
Assistant Professor, Department of Nursing, Midwifery and Health, Northumbria University

Ellen Kitson-Reynolds
Director of Programmes: Nursing and Midwifery, Midwifery Programme Manager, Principle Teaching Fellow: Health Sciences, University of Southampton

The British Journal of Midwifery aims to provide midwives, students and maternity services professionals with accessible, original clinical practice and research articles, while also providing summaries of high-quality research evidence, promoting evidence-based practice.

Contents

Editorial
305 The ups and downs of midwifery in the UK
Suzannah Allkins

Charity spotlight
306 Support for mental health issues
Sally Bunkham

Research
308 Evaluation of a termination of pregnancy education programme in the Republic of Ireland: part 1
Antoinette Fletcher, Triona Cowman, Hazel Cazzini, Judith Fleming, Niamh Healy

316 Diagnosis, management and training in perineal traumas: a national survey of UK midwives
Joanna C Roper, Ranee Thakar, K. Joseph Hurt, Abdul H Sultan

325 Short interpregnancy interval and adverse pregnancy outcomes among women in a Middle Eastern country
Amira Abdullah Saleh Al-Rumhi, Judie Anuappan, Iman Al-Hashmi

336 Adolescent women’s perspective of pregnancy in Iran: a qualitative study
Maryam Moradi, Farkhondeh Amin Shokravi, Farzaneh Pazandeh

Literature review
344 Maternal intrapartum fluids and neonatal weight loss in the breastfed infant
Melody Rich, Dr Sally Dowling, Dr Isabelle Bray

Professional
352 Exploring informed consent in midwifery care
Anna Madeley

Comment
357 Assisted reproduction and morality
George F Winter

Education on termination of pregnancy

308 research

352 professional

What is ‘informed’ consent?