Cockpit Arts Open Studios

It's always hugely exciting to see art and artists in situ and to see where and how a work is produced. An atmosphere of earnest industriousness permeates studio spaces, the smell of dye and glue and fibre as we wander from little world to little world, makes us heady with desire. And if we buy, it's not just a product that we take home but a treasured souvenir of that maker's world with a context, a history. For a taste of such inspiration enter the celebrated studios of Cockpit Arts, Cockpit Yard, Northington Street, London, WC1 T: 020 7430 2949 www.cockpitarts.com Holborn 31 May-3 June 1-7; Also Cockpit Arts (Deptford), 18-22 Creekside, London SE8 T: 020 8692 4463 18 May-12-9 19-20 May 12-6

Something Pertaining to God: The Patchwork Art of Rosie Lee Tompkins, Shelburne Museum, Shelburne Road,

Stroudwater International Textile Festival 2007 This annual festival celebrates the rich textile heritage of the Stroud Five Valleys in Gloucestershire, focusing on our fragile connection to the land. Freddie Robbins, Jenny Balfour-Paul, Sue Lawty, Dail Behennah, Laura Thomas and Jilly Edwards are all appearing in a host of exhibitions, talks and workshops. This year's event premieres 'Textiles in Performance' at nearby Woodchester Mansion, Nympsfield, a site-specific dance performance and installation piece presenting textiles in a dynamic new way.
