

Food for thought

Whether it's increasingly unpredictable weather patterns, the spread of pests and pathogens or the impact of sea-level rise, climate change is making life increasingly precarious for farmers around the world. Hazel Southam reports

VITO ARCOMANO/ALAMY