

CONTENTS

When
Saturday
Comes
No 328
June 2014

Matchday by the River Trent

SIMON GILL

REGULARS

- 5 Editorial
English players have always dived too
- 6 Sidelines
Wolves at the door; Wakefield on the move; women's league goes commercial; grassroots not getting greener; statue books
- 12 Shot!
Cefn Druids on a roll at The Rock
- 15 Harry Pearson column
Old faces will be missed on Brazil's touchlines
- 24 Focus on...
Argentina please their leaders in 1978

Paul Trevillion captures football in snapshots ranging from messy aerial duels to a centre-back's panicky tug at a turning forward

You Are The Ref p18

- 38 Euro view
Lille's bizarre stadium name choice; Istanbul's famous rivals unite in political protest
- 40 Books
Tasty Danish team; Secret Footballer stays hidden; King on his knees; Schaedler mystery
- 42 Letters
"Here's a way to improve the game..."
- 46 Last word
The football manager is becoming redundant

FEATURES

- 16 National pride
If Ryan Giggs manages Wales he needs to show more commitment than he did as a player
- 17 Community resources
Non-League Salford City welcome new owners from an illustrious club nearby
- 18 Comic genius
How You Are The Ref has spent over 50 years enlightening us on officials' dilemmas
- 20 Match of the month
Stuart Pearce is back at Nottingham Forest while Birmingham find themselves in trouble
- 26 Second nature
Torino's Turin shroud; Croatia's split cities; Espanyol's homage to Catalonia

If the season can't end soon enough for Blues supporters, it seems that Forest can't even be bothered with the World Cup

Nottingham Forest v Birmingham City
p20

- 30 Walking away
The only way to save Cardiff from Vincent Tan is to turn your back on the whole club
- 31 Learning curve
Portsmouth's new fan-owners settle in
- 32 Automatic transmission
Broadcasting the World Cup in the 1950s
- 34 Election recall
The impossibility of being nominated for FIFA president; Brazil's relationship with football
- 36 Portuguese conquest
Remembering Celtic's famous European Cup victory over "invincible" Inter in Lisbon