

SECTOR FOCUS AGRICULTURE

Over the millennia, African farmers and herders have faced constant climatic challenges and usually found ways to adapt to them. However, this ancient knowledge, specific to the environment, has been ignored and neglected. Now, however, a new movement aims to place local knowledge at the centre of agricultural practice. Farhiya Ali Ahmed reports.

CLIMATE SMART, NOT CLIMATE CHANGE

