

Cheshire

POULTON HENGE

Experiencing Bronze Age ritual

In CA 180 we reported the search for a lost Cistercian abbey at Poulton in Cheshire, 8km south of the Roman fortress and medieval town at Chester. Several years on, the medieval abbey is still elusive, but Mike Emery's team has found an enigmatic prehistoric ritual site that is at least 3,000 years older.

20 213 current archaeology