

Contents

March 2017

Letters & opinions

- 4 Letters
- 6 Posturing behind “the people”
NICK COHEN
- 7 The Trump trap
ISMAIL EINASHE
- 8 Labour pains
KATE ALLEN
- 9 The scary science of continental drift
JAMES RANDERSON
plus STEPHEN COLLINS'S cartoon strip

- 10 How Britain can still count after it quits
MALCOLM RIFKIND
- 12 Macron and a country at a crossroads
CHRISTINE OCKRENT
- 14 View from China
Reader's block
YUAN REN

The Duel

- 16 Is localism just a cover for cuts?
MARGARET HODGE VS
SIMON JENKINS

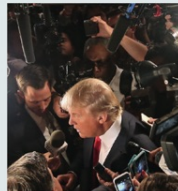

Speed data

- 18 A world going grey
DUNCAN WELDON

Features

- 20 Shooting the messengers
Trump rages at journalists—and they gave up on him before he even started
SAM TANENHAUS plus
- 27 High crimes, low odds
URSULA HACKETT

- 30 Trumpeting a global trade war
The US underpinned the liberal trading order. So what next?
GEORGE MAGNUS

- 36 War of attrition
Abortion rights were already being chipped away at by many US states. Now Washington is joining in
DAHLIA LITHWICK

40 Brief encounter

Steven Pinker
“Knowledge has exponentiated and is available to all”
PSYCHOLOGIST

42 Take back control

We're being asked to pre-commit to a pig-in-a-poke Brexit. Here's how to retain a free hand
JOLYON MAUGHAM

44 Don't care was made to care

The priority for fixing the NHS isn't more cash for hospitals, but supporting the frail at home
ANITA CHARLESWORTH

46 May's way

The PM has clambered up the greasy pole in a style of her own. Don't imagine she'll be easy to dislodge
ANNE PERKINS

50 Getting it together

Having teased out democracy's paradoxes, Amartya Sen is keeping his cool as politics runs wild
SAMEER RAHIM

52 Spooked

Spies see everything, and they've seen everything before. Except Donald Trump
JAY ELWES plus

56 Silence in court

ANDREW TYRIE

58 The vision thing

Roger Penrose reimaged the universe. But could a thinker of such breadth ever emerge today?
PHILIP BALL