David Jackson, Ron Klinger Better Balanced Bidding

An exciting new book introducing the Banzai System of hand evaluation

This is the first book for over 75 years to update the current point count system introduced by Milton Work in 1934. The Banzai System, evolved by David Jackson and Ron Klinger, adds a further dimension to accurate hand evaluation by including the tens, and is of crucial importance when assessing balanced hands. Eric Kokish, an internationally respected American authority, has written the Foreword.

David Jackson is the non-playing captain of the Irish international bridge team and a noted statistician. He lives in Dublin, Ireland. Ron Klinger is probably the world's leading bridge author and teacher. He lives in New South Wales, Australia. www.RonKlingerBridge.com
