

CONTENTS

 *When
Saturday
Comes*
No 376
June 2018

Accurate signage at Queen of the South

COLIN McPHERSON/WSC PHOTOS

REGULARS

- 5 Editorial
Selling Wembley could be great for English football – if the FA spend the money wisely
- 6 Sidelines
Leeds' ill-advised tour; Adebayo Akinfenwa ageing well; Sunday Cup struggling; Mick's blessings at Ipswich; Bucks loses its fizz
- 12 Shot!
Marske United host Billingham Synthonia on their way to promotion
- 24 Focus on
Dino Zoff – Italy's ageless keeper who saved his best until last
- 36 Euro view
Russia's World Cup expectations are low, though their women's team offer some solace

With his pace, strength, two-footed finishing, aerial ability and bravery, he was close to unplayable

Players out of position p32

37 World view

Japan's fan-favourite goalkeeper who has spent his career travelling the world

40 Books

Vince Hilaires speaks out; Given take; Man Utd's super assistant; inside Turkey

42 Letters

The thing about artificial surfaces is...

46 Season in brief

York City benefit from three-up while Bristol Rovers crush Brian Clough's Brighton

FEATURES

15 Lingerin' pain

It doesn't matter how old you get, defeat still stays with you for longer than it should

16 Potters' wheels

Stoke return to "obscurity" after proving themselves worthy in the Premier League

18 The long goodbye

Arsène Wenger got Arsenal and the English game into shape but was eventually overtaken

19 Consultation period

It will be sad to see Goodison Park go but Everton are handling the move well – so far

20 Match of the month

A sunny day at Queen of the South, where Dundee United are the visitors

Banners around the ground celebrate QoS fans' reputation for good behaviour and general decency

Queen of the South v Dundee United p20

26 Team spirit: Brentford

Bees shun glamour for simple good times; a fateful day that worked out well in the end

29 Still with us

Boston United's worst days are behind them, with their reputation finally being repaired

30 Footballing lessons

The game has an incredible power to engage young people and improve their life skills

32 Ignition switch

How Paul Warhurst went from mediocre defender to fearsome striker; the Luton goalkeeper who was more effective up front; Bolton's continental drift

38 Puzzle ball

Confusion still reigns about what the players were kicking in the first World Cup final