

Contents

---

TURKEY FOR CONNOISSEURS

COVER STORY

A CITADEL ON THE SILK ROAD

The late Brian McKee's photographic essay on the İshak Pasha Palace on Turkey's eastern border · 68

---

ART AND ARCHITECTURE

END OF EMPIRE

IN THE DEN OF THE LION KING Assyrian treasures at the British Museum · 34

DIGGING FOR GLORY Everyday life on the edge of the Assyrian Empire · 48

AWASH WITH MEANING

The considered art of Navine G Khan-Dossos, by Jamie Leptien · 58

SICILY'S GOLDEN AGE

Dazzling Byzantine mosaics in Palermo, by Robert Ousterhout · 92

THE SULTAN'S PRIDE AND FALL

ISTANBUL LANDMARKS Paolo Girardelli explores the Imperial School of Medicine · 102

BACK IN TIME FOR LUNCH

Evergreen Pandeli rises again, by Andrew Finkel · 108

---

CONNOISSEUR

Well-dressed Ottomans, very early Iznik and other saleroom highlights; new museums for Ara Güler and Josephine Powell; a spectacular gallery for the British Museum's Islamic art; Galatasaray Lycée at 150; Istanbul's Design Biennial; high-tech Çatalhöyük · 5

---

BOOKS

David Wheeler on an Ottoman garden of delights; Owen Matthews on Black Sea, a book of travel and food; Jason Goodwin on Stamboul Ghosts, John Freely's fond farewell to Beyoğlu · 19

---

PEOPLE

THE INTELLIGENCE OF ÁRMIN VÁMBÉRY

Norman Stone chronicles the colourful but shadowy life of a polyglot Orientalist · 26

---

COOKERY

EARTHY POWERS Berrin Torolsan on the potency of chard and beetroot · 118

---

REGULARS

EATING OUT New finds in Istanbul, by Andrew Finkel · 126

SOUND JUDGEMENT John Shakespeare Dyson looks back on a summer of music · 128

VILLAGE VOICES Azize Ethem's farewell to Iznik · 132

PRIVATE VIEW by Andrew Finkel · 136

COVER 'A Citadel on the Silk Road': the İshak Pasha Palace, Doğubayazıt. Photograph by Brian McKee, page 68