

CONTENTS

‘The unrealistic, absurd, sort of pantomime vision of Great Britain bossing the world simply conceals a deep insecurity and a fear’ RORY STEWART, p44

JULY/AUGUST 2019

THE AGENDA

- 8 THE SPEAR'S LEADERS
It's time for Boris | Bull's eye | Stumped cricket | Mars attracts
- 13 EDITOR'S LETTER
- 14 SHOT BEFORE DAWN
The City Week conference at the Guildhall
- 15 READERS' LETTERS
Observations on the war against wealth, the artist defying the ageing process, and the Spear's Family Lawyers Index
- 16 DIARY
DJ and broadcaster Jo Whiley on festival season and gardening
- 18 THE HEDGEHOG
The latest in the HNW universe, from the Tory Spring Lunch to Neil Woodford's fund woes

- 20 PHILANTHROPY
With Dr Linda Yueh, chair of the Royal Commonwealth Society
- 22 LIQUID LUNCH
Jonathan Agnew, the voice of BBC cricket, gears up for a major summer of action
- 25 WILLIAM CASH
The HNW partygoer's holy grail of historic charm combined with modern luxury service
- 27 ANNAMARIA KOERLING
How perturbed HNWs are preparing for the possibility of a Corbyn government
- 28 ROBERT AMSTERDAM
Private equity, especially 'vulture funds', cannot ignore challenges over human rights violations
- 30 JASON COWLEY
England may still be the home of football, but what we see now is the most global of games

THE ISSUES

- 34 GOLDMAN SACHS AT 150
Does the world's most controversial bank deserve its reputation? David Dawkins assesses the influence of Goldman Sachs around the world today
- 40 CRAZY, REALLY RICH ASIANS
Singapore has eclipsed Hong Kong to become the new home of wealth in Asia, says John Arlidge
- 44 THE SPEAR'S INTERVIEW
Rory Stewart tells Alec Marsh how Britain can pull itself out of its rut of pessimism
- 50 A CITY ON THE BRINK
Paris is going through a rough time, so why is the city so upbeat? Christopher Jackson investigates
- 54 BRITS IN SPACE
Fifty years on from the moon landing, the UK is catching up. By Rasika Sittamparam
- 56 THE FAMILY WITH THE GOLDEN TOUCH
Emelia Hamilton-Russell meets the Buccellati family, a model of succession planning
- 60 THE GLISTENING BANK
Coutts is as forward-thinking as any bank in the world. Christopher Silvester talks to CEO Peter Flavel

