

Contents

COLUMNS

Letters 8

Jonathan Meades
The Guru of regurgitation 6

Sounding Board
Marcus Walker: Why we should resurrect forgiveness 9

Man about Town
Robert Thicknesse: Incel inside 10

Dilyn the Dog
Sniffing around in Manchester 11

David Starkey
History hasn't ended 12

My Woke World
Titania McGrath: The M25 is the modern Maginot Line 17

Economics
Tim Congdon: Beware of the post-Covid bull 26

Arty Types
D.J. Taylor on Lucien Grote 43

Everyday Lies
Theodore Dalrymple: Obfuscatory acronyms 48

Romeo Coates
A valuable lesson 76

Miriam Elia on ...
The balance of nature 7

Adam Dant on ...
Welcome to London undone 52

FEATURES

Canary in the cultural coalmine
Robin Ashenden talks to the prescient Lionel Shriver about "cultural appropriation" 14

The noise before defeat
Patrick Porter says even a good exit from Afghanistan would not have rescued a bad war 18

Making the hard choice
John McTernan says Tony Blair was right to go after the Taliban after 9/11 21

Low panic at High Table

Jonathan Aitken on the ongoing fiasco of the battle to oust the Dean of Christ Church, Oxford 23

The very long arm of the law
Joshua Rozenberg asks whether a perceived imbalance means that Britain needs to reform the extradition laws 27

The classroom culture war
Frank Furedi warns that critical race theory is now being taught in British schools 30

Clash of empires
Jeremy Black asks whether the American victory at Yorktown was really a French triumph 32

Failing Black history
Christopher Silvester says attempts to "decolonise" school history pay little attention to what is already taught 35

The perils of a Speaker unchained
Eliot Wilson on the constitutional consequences of John Bercow's reign 38

The Parent Trap
Melanie Newman uncovers disturbing evidence which reveals why hard-up families are more likely to have their children taken into care 41

It's not easy being green
Irwin Stelzer says a border tax on emissions could encourage the markets to solve global warming 45

Hard Labour
Peter Hitchens recalls the lost world of the industrial correspondents 49

Tristram and the tyrants
Gawain Towler points out that Laurence Sterne's masterpiece was hated by Nazis and communists alike 54

STUDIO
Anthony Daniels visits the War Photo Limited gallery in Dubrovnik 56

BOOKS

Rana Mitter: Blood and Ruins: The Great Imperial War 1931-1945 by Richard Overy 60

Ella Whelan: The Transgender Issue by Shon Faye; The Right to Sex by Amia Srinivasan 62

Will Norton: Brexit Unfolded: How No One Got What They Wanted 64

Christopher Bray: On Love and Tyranny: The Life and Politics of Hannah Arendt by Ann Heberlein; Hannah Arendt by Samantha Rose Hill 65

Will Hawkes: The Philosophy of Beer by Jane Peyton 67

Tom Chesshyre: City of Illusions: A History of Granada by Helen Rodgers and Stephen Cavendish 68

Thomas Gallagher: Tito's Secret Empire: How the Maharaja of the Balkans Fooled the World by William Klinger and Denis Kuljiš 69

Alexander Larman: The Poet and the Publisher by Pat Rogers; Book Wars by John B. Thompson 71

Richard Waghorne: The Sins of G.K. Chesterton by Richard Ingrams 72

John Self: Beautiful World, Where Are You by Sally Rooney; Bewilderment by Richard Powers; The Inseparables by Simone de Beauvoir 73

THE SECRET AUTHOR
Don't be sniffy about Super Thursday 75